A: I don't know if this is a right answer, but the simplest way to get the output should be to redirect the output to a file and read it in a loop until all done. `#!/bin/bash dir="$1" for file in "$dir"/*; do for dir in "`basename "$file".nfo`" "" "xyz" "qrstuvwxyz" "ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ1234567890" "0123456789" "0123456789012" "123456789012"; do awk "BEGIN{print ""} {if ($4 == $dir || $6 == "" || $7 == "" || $8 == "" || $9 == "" || $10 == "" || $11 == "" || $12 == "" || $13 == "" || $14 == "" || $15 == "" || $16 == "" || $17 == "" || $18 == "" || $19 == "" || $20 == "" || $21 == "" || $22 == "" || $23 == "" || $24 == "" || $25 == "" || $26 == "" || $27 == "" || $28 == "" || $29 == "" || $30 == "" || $31 == "" || $32 == "" || $33 == "" || $34 == "" || $35 == "" || $36 == "" || $37 == "" || $38 == "" || $39 == "" || $40 == "" || $41 == "" || $42 == "" || $43 == "" || $44 == "" || $45 == "" || $46 == "" || $47 == "" || $48 == "" || $49 == "" || $50 == "" || $51 == "" || $52 == "" || $53 == "" || $54 == "" || $55 == "" || $56 == "" || $57 == "" || $58 == "" || $59 == "" || $60 == "" || $61 == "" || $62 == "" || $63`

I have the computer in front of me right now and i can not boot into windows. I have been able to use the original recovery disk to perform a successful repair on the hard drive. But i am unable to view any of the hard drive via the system that was originally installed. Is there any way i can see the drive. It is not recognized as a part of the system and in order to see it i have to use a separate recovery disk. I am using a HP pavilion dv6000 laptop and windows vista ultimate. I have been through every tutorial and can't seem to work it out. In this specification, a document such as a patent document, a thesis or an academic thesis means a work or thesis written by a person, in which information is explained, or the work or thesis written by another person from which information is quoted, or the work or thesis written by a third person. In the past, when a relative of a person who is to be examined (a candidate in an examination, a test subject, etc.) was to take an examination (an entrance examination for a university, etc.), the relative visited the examination place where the examination was held.

Although the examination itself was conducted, the examination conditions differed from one place to another. Therefore, the relative of the person to be examined had to cope with different examination conditions in each place, which was cumbersome. For this reason, there was proposed a technique of facilitating a relative of the person to be examined to take an examination (see, for example, Patent Document

1). According to this technique, portable information acquisition equipment is provided to the relative of the person to be examined, and this information acquisition equipment is used to acquire information that matches the examination conditions. Patent Document 1: Japanese
