Free Address Book [Win/Mac]

Completely FREE! FreeAddressBook is a modern, open source, desktop app that helps you to manage your contacts. It is an extremely light-weight solution that can fit on any server system - no need to install it on your computer. In fact, the whole app is self-contained and doesn't need any installation on the client side. The contact list is divided into groups which can be easily renamed and moved around. After setting your preferences you can access your contacts at any time by clicking on the AddressBook button in your system tray. This app supports your standard USB and serial port accessories like phone, modem, D-Link or Bluetooth dongles, pen drives, smart cards, digital cameras, security tags, barcode scanners and many other technologies. It is possible to import contacts from such accessories. And if you have your contacts stored on Microsoft Outlook, you can connect it with FreeAddressBook using the standard OLE import feature. Easy to use contacts manager! You'll see your contacts when you launch the application (the list of contacts is stored in the file "contacts.dat" or in the folder "contacts", depending on your preferences). You can create new contacts, edit, delete or rename them. All contacts have standard notes which can be searched using the usual search options. To backup your database you can export it to CSV file, which can be viewed and edited in any standard text editor. You can also print your contacts in order to share them with people. In FreeAddressBook version 2.0 two new features have been added: Grouping your contacts into a folder which is easy to navigate. You can add the groups in the Add New group dialog. To edit the contents of the group, open the group's folder and click on the Edit button. With the new contact finding feature you can set up the search scope and apply it to your entire address book. You can add each found contact to the groups or directly edit their contents. If you need any help, please don't hesitate to contact me. What's new in version 2.2: - Fixed a bug which caused the window to get unresponsive, - Fixed a bug which caused new contacts to be processed incorrectly, - Fixed a bug in importing from Microsoft Outlook which caused the "Import" button to be inactive, - Various bug fixes. New features of FreeAddressBook:
