Zarif arrived at the UN headquarters in New York after a UN meeting in Geneva was suspended in the wake of the incident on Thursday, local media reported. The Iranian minister did not say what he intended to do next, according to local media, but the UN is holding a number of meetings on a wide-range of issues, including the issue of Israel's occupation of Palestine and the human rights situation in Syria. The top UN official also wanted to discuss the Syrian government's offensive on Eastern Ghouta, an enclave in the Damascus suburbs that is controlled by opposition factions.
