I watched it in the forest, somewhat off the beaten path. Marathi kirtan, download kirtan. Jul 24, 2012.Q: Passing parameters in rules I'm just getting into working with rules in D7 and I've been trying to figure out how to pass parameters to a function for processing. What I'm looking for is the equivalent to doing in the.inc file like: function my_custom_module_process_form_alter($form, &$form_state) { if($form_state['triggering_element']['#text'] == 'My custom text: ') { $form_state['values']['my_text'] = $form_state['triggering_element']['#text']; } } where $form_state['values'] would contain the generated results, in this case a simple text string. So I have the rule function: function my_example_module_process_form(&$form, &$form_state) { $form['submit']['#submit'][] ='my_example_module_process_form_submit'; if($form_state['triggering_element']['#text'] == 'My custom text: ') { $form_state['values']['my_text'] = $form_state['triggering_element']['#text']; } } which works great, but how can I pass through $form_state['values']? I tried a few things, but I had to resort to echoing the parameters to the view, which is not what I want to do. I would like to do something like form["my_text
